Dama_Recyclability

MOVING is on the front line regarding the recycling of materials. The company constantly looks for raw materials and processing that can guarantee an eco-compatible product. Starting from the design phase, careful attention is paid to the sorting of the components, in order to make it easier for the final user to recycle.

The commitment of the company is proved not only by the research and development of new products, but also by the course of the production processes. In the company a careful sorting of waste and scrap is carried out, with the purpose of maximizing the quote sent to recycling. All this is part of a long path undertaken by the company in order to promote an environmentally friendlier way of manufacturing.
